

Culture of Health Leaders Reviewer Job Description

The Culture of Health Leaders program is a leadership development opportunity for individuals working in every field and profession who want to use their influence to advance equity and health. Our leaders' innovations help build a Culture of Health, one that enables everyone in America to live longer, healthier lives. Through this program, our leaders will be prepared to collaborate and provide transformative leadership to address health equity in their communities.

The Culture of Health Leaders National Program Center is seeking application reviewers to assist in the selection of the 2018 cohort of the program. Applications will be reviewed in multiple rounds from late-February 2018 through April 2018 using the program's online application and review system.

Reviewers must have an understanding of equity issues, as well as knowledge of the social determinants of health, cross-sector work, and leadership development principles.

Reviewers will be required to participate in a training webinar on February 13, 2018 and must commit to a minimum of 40 reviews (approximately 20 hours over two weeks). Individuals selected to participate in the review process will be paid $25-35 for each submitted review, based on the review round.

Selected reviewers will be notified by February 1.

Apply to be a reviewer by submitting the application available at this link by January 22, 2018.